

A photograph of a woman with long dark hair, wearing a long, patterned, light-colored dress, standing on a sandy, rocky ledge. She is looking out over a vast, hilly landscape under a large, overhanging rock formation. The scene is bathed in warm, golden light, suggesting late afternoon or early morning. The rock overhang is massive and textured, with deep shadows and bright highlights. The landscape below is a mix of green fields and brown earth, with some distant buildings visible on the horizon.
